Category: Featured

The Winter 2019 issue of Perspectives in Health Information Management features a review of the expanding role of clinical documentation, a study of EHR documentation times, and a literature review of quality of life surveys to determine the correct approach to trauma-affected communities.

Authors of the study, "The Expanding Role of Clinical Documentation Improvement Programs in Research and Analytics," demonstrate how CDI professionals can evaluate the impacts of changes in clinical definitions and explored how CDI can work with other institutional programs to decrease length of stay.

Perspectives in Health Information Management is a scholarly, peer-reviewed journal, referred to by professors, professionals, public officials, industry leaders, and policy-makers. Since 2004, Perspectives has been one of the most credible and respected journals of the HIM industry, and is referenced in notable indices such as PubMed Central (PMC), the Cumulative Index to Nursing and Allied Health (CINAHL), and Google Scholar. Join Perspectives in celebrating more than 10 years of scholarly publishing that advances health information management practice.
